

DON'T MISS A FLAKE

KIDS!

Do you want to be part of the weather and contribute to the scientific community?

Now you can by helping the non-profit organization Cocorahs! We are a network of volunteers who measure snowfall and rainfall at the same time each day to help with weather totals for different communities. Signup now to measure snowfall and rainfall each day, at a time that is most convenient. Use it to track weather yourself and it makes a great volunteer activity for your school record.

To participate you need:
Ruler, computer with Internet, and parental permission
